Southwest Louisiana Chapter Inducts Local Hero (November 21, 2019)

When a Chapter President has the honor to sponsor a new member into the SAR, it is always a special moment, one that will stay with that Chapter President forever. Yet occasionally there is that one new member whose induction ceremony is just too sublime for words. Such a moment occurred when Mr. Lawrence Boudreaux, a local veteran residing in the Southwest Louisiana Veterans Home in Jennings, Louisiana, was recently inducted into the Southwest Louisiana Chapter.

Mr. Boudreaux is a legend in Southwest Louisiana. He is a ninety-seven-year-old World War II Veteran who is one of only two surviving members of the 321st Glider Field Artillery Battalion, 101st Airborne Division who served during the invasion of Europe on D-Day. His journey began when he entered the service from his small hometown of Church Point, Louisiana. He started his military experience at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. From there he was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division and then traveled to England aboard a Liberty Ship to train for the invasion of Europe. He participated in the Allied landing at Normandy but was wounded on the beach and sent back to England. Once recovered, he re-joined his unit in time to participate in Operation Market Garden (the largest airborne assault in history) by way of a C-47 transport plane and a glider. After this experience, Mr. Boudreaux continued to serve in France in the Ardennes and the Battle of the Bulge. Upon completion of these missions, he and his fellow service members would make their way to Hitler's second home, the Eagle's Nest. When they arrived at the bombed-out structure, they proceeded to look around and helped themselves to the drink provided from the cellars below and any souvenirs that they could pack away.

Mr. Boudreaux received many honors for his service in World War II, including the Legion of Honor (France's Highest Award), Purple Heart, Bronze Star, the Croix de Guerre with palm, and the Fourragere (1940) from the Kingdom of Belgium. His campaigns include Normandy, Ardennes, Rhineland, and Central Europe, and his service has been recounted in various books and even a recent article in The Army Times. The service that PFC Lawrence Boudreaux provided to our nation is why this was such a special moment in the life of the Southwest Louisiana Chapter SAR.

After surviving the perils of World War II, Mr. Boudreaux came back home to Louisiana where he spent the next twenty years as a farmer and the Police Chief of the Welsh Police Department.

When I heard that Mr. Boudreaux might be interested in becoming a member of the SAR, I called the Jennings Veterans Home and made an appointment to meet with him for an interview. I explained to him the mission and purpose of the SAR, and he asked to become a member. The genealogical research began almost immediately. We quickly discovered that Mr. Boudreaux is a direct descendant of Pierre Bergeron, who served with the Pointe Coupee Militia from Pointe Coupee, LA as a Fusilier with the Spanish forces that drove the British from Louisiana and the Gulf Coast.

On November 21st, 2019, at the Southwest Louisiana Veterans Home in Jennings, LA, Mr. Boudreaux was sworn into the Southwest Louisiana Chapter SAR by Librarian General Tony L. Vets. He was then awarded the SAR War Service Medal for his service in World War II by Louisiana Society SAR President Major Bradley T. Hayes, who also wears the War Service medal from his time in Iraq and Afghanistan. In attendance were Mr. Broussard's two daughters, Barbra Broussard and Gertie Buller, plus other family members, as well as Brigadier General Keith Waddell and Major Nicholas Acosta of the Louisiana Army National Guard, French Consul Christian Goudeau, President Jeffery Nolen of the Southwest Louisiana Chapter SAR and additional members of the SAR.

Southwest Louisiana Chapter Meets (September 11, 2019)

SW Louisiana Chapter member Dr Andy Buckley was the guest speaker at the September meeting. Dr Buckley spoke on the subject "What the Sons of the American Revolution Have to Say to Our Culture in 2019." Three key areas of focus were: 1) The Sons of the American Revolution. A national patriotic, historical, and educational organization seeks to fulfill four objectives; 2) The history and ideals of the American Revolution are the foundation of our national identity. Future generations, if unaware of the historic sacrifices that secured our liberty, will fail to value and protect that liberty and freedom will be lost; 3) Americans must restore and practice the vision of our Revolutionary ancestors

After Dr Buckley's presentation, President Jeff Nolen shared his desire to work with the VFW and American Legion to identify high school students for award programs.

Barbara Guillory (DAR registrar) explained genealogical research utilizing the Daughters of the American Revolution data bases for potential members. Mrs. Guillory volunteered to assist any potential SAR member in completion of their application.

Ted Harless spoke about the growth of the Avenue of Flags. The memorial has exceeded 1100 casket flags. The next emphasis will be on Veterans Day, November 11.

Chapter Meets and Reorganizes (June 26, 2019)

The long dormant chapter held a re-organizational meeting with Jeff Nolen calling the meeting to order. Jeff was charged by the Louisiana SAR State President Bradley Hayes to revitalize the Oliver Pollock Chapter. The first order of business was the nomination and election of officers, whose terms will run from June 26, 2019 to September 30, 2020. Andy Buckley, former President and currently VP/awards chairman nominated Jeff Nolen as President, to fill the position vacated by Sam Manuel. Jeff Nolen nominated Ted Harless, former SAR President and currently President of the SAR Avenue of Flags as Vice President to fill the position vacated by Andy Buckley. Jeff Nolen nominated Andy Buckley to serve as Secretary to fill the position vacated by Steve Carnahan.

President Jeff Nolen suggested the chapter consider adopting a new name reflecting a more diverse geographic area. President Nolen noted he could not determine from discussion with members the identity of Oliver Pollock or why the chapter had been named after him. Neither Brad Mayo nor Ted Harless could add any insight to the reason why the chapter was named for Oliver Pollock.

Andy Buckley, retired college instructor, identified Oliver Pollock as one of three key financiers of the American Revolutionary War, the others being Hyman Solomon and Robert Morris. US historians recognize these three historical figures as the primary financiers of the American cause. Each gave vast personal financial fortunes to the cause, in addition to selling bonds and other securities to European banks. Pollock, Morris, and Solomon all died in poverty, due to their sacrifices. Oliver Pollock was appointed by the Continental Congress in 1777 as "commercial agent of the United States at New Orleans", making him the representative of the colonies in the Deep South and west. He used his vast fortune, earned as a New Orleans merchant, to finance American colonial operations in the west, and the campaign of George Rogers Clark in Illinois. He served as Governor Galvez's aide-de-camp during the Spanish campaign against the British. Galvez and the Spanish troops, fighting with the Americans, defeated the British in the future states of Louisiana, Alabama, and Florida.

Brad Mayo, a 50 year member suggested "Southwest Louisiana Sons of the American Revolution Chapter." After thorough discussion, the membership voted unanimously to change the name to appeal to the five parish geographic area.

History

In 1927 twelve members at-large of the Louisiana society met in Lake Charles and organized the Oliver Pollock Chapter. Regular meetings were held quarterly until 1931 and the chapter became inactive during the Great Depression.

In the late 1950's interest was rekindle and with the assistance of the DAR. Members attempted to reorganize and were told that the name Oliver Pollock could not be reused, so the "new" chapter was chartered as the Calcasieu Chapter on October 17, 1959 with State President Herbert Parker installing Claudius Augustus Mayo as Chapter President. Later the name Oliver Pollock was approved and the name restored.

In 1984, the Oliver Pollock chapter began a Lake Charles tradition known as the Avenue of Flags. On Memorial Day, the chapter and volunteers from other organizations line the street and entrance to historic Orange Grove / Graceland Cemetery with over 700 donated casket flags, making this the largest display of memorial flags between Florida and the West Coast.
